NAVY IS CONFIDENT OF BEATING ARMY

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 20,-As the time for the big game with the Army cadets Theater this week, found but very little draws nearer confidence is growing among middies will come through the battle with flying colors, in spite of the fact that on general form during the season the Army boys appear to be somewhat better. With Oliphant, Vidal and others, the Army lads probably have it on their rivals in point of brilliance of individ-ual players, but the Navy contingent can count a great deal upon the long line of second-string men available, nearly all of whom are equally as good as either of the varsity men, both in the backfield and among the forward.

The middles went through a length The middles went through a lengthy drill in signals and formation this afternoon, and there was also some scrimmaging. All of the players who are likely to be called upon to do a part in the big game were given a workout in the course of the practice. Head Coach Ingram has not finally announced his line-up, but it is generally understood it will be much the same as that which started the game against Villanova Saturday.

W. S. Langford, of Trinity, who seems o have a mortgage on the job as refere for Army-Navy, has again been chosen and the other officials will be: Umpire, F. J. Murphy, of Brown; field judge, Evans, of Williams, and head linesman, Carl Marshall, Harvard.

CANNOT SEE THE THIRD MAJOR LEAGUE

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Instead of opposing President Ban Johnson, of the American League "rather favors" a third major league, he declared in an interview today.

"The Federal League never had a right to exist because it was formed by men trying to legislate a third league into existence, instead of by a demand from the public for such a circuit. The game has not prospered in some cities and by raising the clubs in their rating the game would receive a big boost."

Central will greatly outwelgh Eastern and should win by at least two touch-downs if it piays up to its present form. The championship being at stake, Central is expected to put everything it in the game.

In Long, Central has a back of more than ordinary ability, both on the offense and defense, his strongest point being able to heave the forward pass with accuracy. Kaplan, on right end, has gained more ground through his ability to catch the forward pass than any other end in the series.

Capt. Cumming, of Eastern, has more than shown his worth at end this season, being a sure tackle, fast down on punts and well able to catch forward passes from "Gabby" Newman, the best half back in the series for running back punts. "Reds" Sweeny is another good back who has proved a consistent ground gainer for Eastern all season.

FALLING ON THE BALL ON COLLEGE GRIDIRONS

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The Army team returned to the gridiron today for the final drive for the navy game next Saturday. For two hours the coaches drove the men through the stiffest Monday practice of the season.

"More speed" was the cry all the way. Vidal was missing today. He is resting. Butler, who has been out since the Notre Dame game early in the month, got in togs today, but will not get into the game until tomorrow. Ford was in Vidal's place until tomorrow.
